School Buses Inspected

Buses used in the Salem city public school system for the transportation of students to and from their homes in the adjacent suburban districts were inspected this morning by state highway patrolmen. Shown above about to check one of the buses for required safety features is Patrolman James P. Wilson. The inspections will continue throughout the county. The bus operators will be notified of any defects, which must be corrected.

Million Bushel Yield Anticipated

Bumper Apple Crop In Area Forecast

Upwards of one million bushels of apples is the yield expected during the local harvest season which will provide the largest apple crop in the area in five years.

The fact that the Columbiana-

Mahoning County district was not as affected by drought as were other nearby states is attributed to the huge yield expected. Late heavy rains helped. Below-average crops are expected in such states as Michigan, West Virginia, Virginia, Pennsylvania and southern Ohio.

A majority of the 50 or 60 apple growers in the Columbiana-Mahoning county area are members of the Salem Fruit Growers Cooperative Association which recently rented a building in Columbiana for grading and packing of the apples.

Nearly one-half of all apples produced in the state come from this area which is the largest apple-growing region in Ohio, with Salem as a focal center.

The centralized packing and grading plant which will employ 30 persons, will ensure a standard, higher quality of apples representing the area, growers hope. Heretofore, each grower has packed and graded his own, with the result that some apples which were shipped were of low standard, which growers felt reflected on the area as a whole.

Henry Ross is managing the plant located in the former Farm Bureau building on W. Railroad St., Columbiana.

About 150 Puerto Rican and Jamaican farm workers have been brought into the area by the Employment Service to assist in harvesting the crop which will be at its peak the initial two weeks in October. However, many more pickers are needed, and persons interested in working full or part time are asked to contact the Ohio State Employment Office here, according to Arthur S. Johnston, director. Salaries are rated usually on a piece work basis, Johnston says, and the wages are invariably good.

Apple varieties grown in the area include Ohio Non Pareil, which was developed in this state, and which comes early, and Macintosh, Wealthy, Jonathan, Yellow and Red Delicious, Northern Spanghams, Rome Beauties, and the Rome Beauties, the last of the crop and one which arrives the first week in November.

17 Plead Innocent To Indictments; 3 Get Prison Terms

LISBON — Seventeen not guilty pleas and 10 of guilty were entered when defendants in September grand jury indictments were arraigned in common pleas court Monday.

In addition, seven asked for probation and three others asked for immediate sentencing.

Five indictments, two of them secret, are yet to be served.

Mast Released on Bond

Rigby Mast, until recently the Columbiana County welfare director, pleaded not guilty to a secret indictment charging him with embezzlement of $1,270. He was brought into court after the usual noon recess and was released on $1,500 bond furnished by Dr. H. W. Bennett, a Lisbon physician. Also arraigned on a secret indictment was Ralph Marx, 21, of RD 1, Lisbon, who pleaded innocent to a charge of manslaughter in the death of Mrs. Emma Lessert, 60, of Toronto, in a traffic accident at the junction of Routes 164 and 39 north of Salineville this summer. Nine others were hurt in that crash.

Mayor Dean B. Crammer of Salem, indicted earlier on a charge of embezzlement of $375, asked for a continuance of his plea and was given until Friday at 10 a.m. to enter a plea. His bond of $1,000 was continued by Judge Sharp. Criminal trials will start Oct. 7 but a definite schedule has not been announced yet by Prosecutor G. William Brokaw.

Others Pleading Innocent

Others pleading not guilty yesterday were: John J. Humphrey, 38, Lisbon, RD 4, non-support.

James Sorrell, 22, and Donald Curi, 22, of East Palestine; Glenn Curi, 22, Negley, and James Boher, 21, of Columbiana; burglary of dwelling of Bruce Buchner, of East Palestine RD.

Willie R. Mickens, 23, of Pittsburgh, auto larceny.

Rentz Nicholson, 22, of Alliance, burglary of Sleepy Hollow Golf Club.

Haywood Smith, 37, of Youngstown, pointing and discharging firearms in the shooting of Elmer Cowan, 30, of Youngstown on Sept. 13 in a parking lot at Brookside Park on Route 7 south of Rogers.

Three Are Sentenced

Pleading guilty and asking for immediate sentences were: James Edward Sims, 24, of Dresden Ave., East Liverpool, who was sentenced to 1 to 5 years in the Ohio Reformatory at Mansfield for a daytime burglary in which a watch was taken.

Douglas Fairbanks Moore, 29, of Roanoke Rapids, N.C., and Theodore Penamon, 24, of Washington, D.C., pleaded guilty to auto larceny (2 counts) and Judge Sharp sentenced them each to 1 to 20 years on each count to the Ohio Penitentiary, the terms to run concurrently.

Pleading guilty and asking for probation were Dean Stephens, 22,

Concession Stand At Stadium Broken Into

Mrs. May Ehrhart of 337 Penn St., proprietor of the concession stand at Reilly Stadium, told police Monday afternoon that someone had broken into the stand and had stolen 10 pounds of popcorn and 10 pounds of seasoning sometime Friday night.

Police said entry was made by taking the hinges off the door of the stand. Frank J. Stoudt, caretaker at the stadium, discovered the theft Monday afternoon.

Only 25 Others May Have Survived

5 Crewmen Rescued From Leaking Lifeboat

LONDON — Five crewmen of the German sailing ship Pamir were rescued Monday from a leaking lifeboat. They said no more than 25 others could have survived.

They reported only one other lifeboat—loaded with 25 crewmen—got away when disaster and Hurricane Carrie struck Saturday in the Atlantic. The Pamir carried a crew of 86.

Their report spurred a search by 10 ships in the stormy area 550 miles southwest of the Azores. It was a race with the violent sea. The five men said high waves washed five of their comrades overboard to their deaths only a short time before a U.S. freighter came out of the muck to save them.

Orange-colored lights and flares were spotted earlier in the day, leading to hope that the other lifeboat still was afloat.

The five survivors were found by the 7,251-ton Labrador Lines

If He Decides They're Needed To Halt Violence

President Angered At Racial Disorders In Arkansas Capital

NEWPORT, R. I. (AP)—President Eisenhower — a momentous decision behind him — is ready today to call out federal troops if he decides they are needed to quell any further school integration violence at Little Rock, Ark.

Whether he does call them out will depend, the vacation White House said, on whether his proclamation commanding Little Rock rioters to cease and desist is obeyed.

The President, clearly angered by the racial disorders in the Arkansas capital, took swift action after getting reports from the Justice Department. In the past he had spoken out forcibly against use of force to compel integration.

He put out a statement saying: "I will use the full power of the United States—including whatever force may be necessary—to prevent any obstruction of the law and to carry out the (integration) orders of the federal court."

Then, stated on a sun porch at his U.S. naval base residence, he put his name Monday night to a history-making proclamation clearing the legal way for use of force by the federal government.

Eisenhower and his legal advisers have no doubt the proclamation does open the way for ordering out federal troops—if the President should decide such a step is necessary.

But Arkansas Gov. Orval Faubus contends the President can't use federal forces in Little Rock unless requested by the governor.

"I don't plan to make any such request," Faubus said.

The governor last Friday night obeyed a Federal District Court order to withdraw National Guardsmen used to bar Negro pupils from Little Rock's Central High School. Faubus said he put the soldiers there to preserve law and order—to prevent violence.

Monday—while Faubus was in Georgia attending the Southern Governors Conference — violence did break out at the high school as nine Negroes entered the building. After a bloody round of rioting on the grounds, they left.

Sen. McClellan (D-Ark) took the position Eisenhower has no legal authority to use federal troops to enforce integration. He noted that Congress, in passing civil rights legislation at the fast session, repealed a Reconstruction era law that empowered the President to use troops to enforce court orders in civil rights cases.

Eisenhower drew on other legal authority in issuing his cease and desist order which James C. Hagerty, White House press secretary, called a necessary step in advance of any actual use of troops.

He acted under Title 10 of the Workshop Of Teachers To Attract 250

Approximately 250 educators are expected to attend the Columbiana County Education Association annual fall workshop Friday at Beaver Local High School.

The all day session will begin at 9 a.m. and will conclude at 3:30 p.m. with a dinner in the cafeteria.

Dr. Will B. Orr, president of Westminster College will be the guest speaker.

Grade level discussion groups will meet in the afternoon with the following consultants in charge.

High school: Dr. Harris Dante, Kent State University, history; Art Fies, Kent State University, mathematics; Daniel Friedberg, Leona School, science; Mrs. Mary Eckler, English, and Jack Rafield, health and physical education, both of Mt. Union College; Miss Daisy Stackhouse, Goshen schools, home economics.

Grade school: John Groshans, Webster Publishing Co., fifth grade, and Miss Margaret Bingham, the Youngstown City Schools, first grade.

Most Columbiana County schools will be closed Friday so that teachers can attend the workshop.

Peter Marra is president of the Columbiana County Education Association.

Band To be Feted At Banquet Oct. 12

A "Banquet of Champions" for the Quaker City American Legion Band will be held Saturday, Oct. 12, at 6:30 p.m. in St. Paul School.

Jack Rance, president of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, said today.

Rance said the banquet, held to honor the band for being the 1957 national American Legion band champions, will be co-sponsored by the Jaycees and the Chamber of Commerce.

Patron tickets will be available to friends of all band members as the banquet is being held to honor band members and their wives.

5 Suspected Agitators Moved From Crowd Near High School

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—Police hustled off five white men from the Central High School scene this morning shortly after the officers took up their stations.

The 50 officers had just been deployed when two policemen apparently recognized the five men in the small crowd that had gathered early at the site of a bloody integration battle Monday.

Only a handful of people—one reporter counted 14—was clustered around the barriers when the arrests were made.

Apparently the police meant to remove agitators from the scene as they arrive.

Meanwhile President Eisenhower's headquarters reiterated the chief executive is ready to order federal troops to Little Rock to quash any new outbreak of racial violence at Central High.

At Sea Island, Ga., where Gov. Orval Faubus has disputed the President's right to use troops without the governor's consent, Faubus was reported poised to return to Arkansas.

City police and state troopers were busy Monday night answering calls reporting fights between whites and Negroes. Most of them turned out to be of minor importance.

A gang fight between about 50 Negro and white teen-agers touched off what may have been the most serious incident. State Trooper Louis Cone said that when he told a car occupied by two Negro men and three women to move on, the driver attempted to run him down.

Cone, who was knocked down by the automobile, said he jumped up, fired two shots at the fleeing car and then gave chase in his own automobile. A city policeman also fired a shot, he said, and two city police cars joined in the chase.

Pursuit ended at a dead-end street about 12 blocks away when the Negroes' car bounced into a yard and smashed into a fence.

Booked by Police

City police booked Curtis Patrick, 22, of Little Rock for disturbing the peace and Clarence R. Sanders, 29, of Bunkie, La., an airman stationed at the Little Rock Air Force Base, for disturbing the peace, carrying a conspiracy.

Passions Rage Over Bitter Racial Crisis

WASHINGTON (AP)—Look at their faces, and shudder. You don't need to have been in Little Rock Monday. The news pictures give you the horror of the scene.

Hate-garled features, twisted by passions as old as mankind. Thin-lipped, squint-eyed faces. The "Give it to the black..." grimace. And "Let's you and him fight" look.

Stunned, anxious faces. The gasp of "Can this really be happening?" Like the one of the white schoolgirl being led away by a sobbing older woman. The blonde girl's hand half-shielded contorted lips and eyes.

And the numb look — terror? Resignation?—of the Negro newsman being kicked in the chest by a white man clutching a half brick.

Little Rock, Ark., Sept. 23, 1957. A day to haunt men's consciences. A day for reappraisal. The nation has known worse disorders. But this one had a special, chilling quality. The eyes of the world were on Little Rock. And they saw mob violence triumphant.

Police lines held, but the shrieking, surging crowd had its way. Nine Negro teen-agers who at-

Pioneer In Surgical Techniques Dies

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Dr. Rudolph Matas, whose revolutionary work in surgical techniques opened broad new fields to medicine, died Monday night at 97.

Death came quietly to the kindly, stooped surgeon once lauded by another great doctor, William J. Mayo, as the "greatest surgeon I have known." Matas had been hospitalized for two years.

He drew honors from a dozen nations for his work in blood vessel surgery, the use of anesthesia and transfusions.

The son of a Spanish physician, Matas was born near New Orleans Sept. 12, 1860, and studied in France, Spain and Mexico before graduating from Tulane University Medical School here in 1880.

His wife died in 1912. They had no children.

Dr. Duvalier Rolls Up Large Election Lead

PORT AU PRINCE, Haiti (AP)—Dr. Francois Duvalier rolled up a top-heavy lead in presidential election returns today and a losing candidate hinted at violence.

Unofficial counts in heavily populated rural areas indicated that the 48-year-old Negro doctor was winning there by about 10 to 1.

Duvalier claimed victory last night. His headquarters indicated he was sure of more than 60 per cent of the 1,300,000 votes cast Sunday.

Former Sen. Louis Dejoie, Duvalier's principal opponent, hinted that there might be widespread disorders. Some of his supporters threatened to burn the capital if he lost.

Dejoie charged wholesale fraud. He charged that his followers had been harassed by mass arrests and intimidation.

American Economy Now Needs Something To Boost It Up

NEW YORK — Wanted: something new to give the economy a boost.

The long business boom is showing signs of getting tired. But each time since World War II that it has slowed down something has shown up to boost it to a new level.

Businessmen wish they could sight something new on the horizon now.

Immediately after the war there was the big pentup demand for consumer goods. It took a few years to fill all these desires and business boomed during the process.

Haggerty Picks Up More Eligible Votes In Teamsters Bid

CINCINNATI — A veteran Chicago labor leader who seeks the presidency of the International Teamster union, says he thinks he has enough delegates pledged to him to swing his election.

Thomas J. Haggerty, who earlier said he had 800 of the 1,846 eligible votes, said Monday: "I feel that I have picked up at least 160 votes."

Haggerty, who opposes Midwest Teamster chief James R. Hoffa for the presidency, stopped here briefly on his campaign tour before the union convention opens next week in Florida.

The Chicago candidate said that he may attract support from Teamsters in the Chicago area, which earlier agreed to support Hoffa, then switched to no candidate.

William Lee of Chicago, a Teamster vice president, telephoned Haggerty Monday, saying he had withdrawn support of Hoffa. Lee said he planned a conference with Chicago's Joint Teamster Council. Haggerty said it might swing the votes to him.

A breakdown of Cincinnati delegates shows 11 for Haggerty, 5 for Hoffa and 9 uncommitted.

New Proposal Made by CWA

Negotiators Await Reply From Ohio Bell

CLEVELAND (AP) — Negotiators for the striking Communications Workers of America get a reply from Ohio Bell Telephone Co. today to a new union proposal for a contract covering 18,500 telephone workers.

The union made the proposal in a brief afternoon session Monday and the company asked a recess to study the revised CWA demands. Later Ohio Bell said: "The union's counter proposal is confined to the subject of wages and length of contract only."

Martin J. Hughes, Ohio CWA director, issued a statement that "wages and length of contract are not a barrier to agreement" and added:

"The company's attitude on hospitalization, shorter hours, vacation and town reclassification (geographical pay differentials) has snagged negotiations."

But Ohio Bell said there was "no discussion whatever on fringe items" Monday.

Earlier, the union said negotiators for the utility would not talk fringe benefits until agreement had been reached on general wage increases. The company has offered $2 to $4.50 on a one-year contract or $2.50 to $5 on 15-month pact. CWA has rejected both as inadequate.

The walkout, affecting 45 cities, was eight days old at 6 a. m. today.

Meanwhile a meeting of Western Electric Co. installers in the Cleveland area was called for Thursday to consider ratification of an agreement that ended a four-day nationwide strike.

Local CWA leaders recommended the members reject the settlement with Western Electric, manufacturing arm of the American Telephone & Telegraph Co. It calls for wage increase of 6 to 12 cents an hour plus other benefits.

Western Electric Co. installers have not returned to work in Ohio, respecting picket lines posted against Ohio Bell.

Vices and Virtues

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—The thing that beats most people in this world, said Joe E. Lewis, is not being themselves.

When you aren't yourself, you're in trouble—real trouble. Lewis, a man beloved for his vices as much as his virtues (in any case, they're identical), is celebrating his 35th year in show business—and has never bothered to pretend to be anything except what he is.

I know too many guys who ruined themselves by trying not to be themselves. If a man can't be himself, who can he be?

At 55 Joe, whose quips earn him from $250,000 to $400,000 a year, is the acknowledged king of the night club circuit, rivaled in durability only by Jimmy Durante and Sophie Tucker.

A guy can't go on forever telling jokes and getting tight," he remarked cheerfully. Already I can see the handwriting on the floor.

But I have no frustrations. I've never been to see a psychiatrist—but a lot of them come to see me.

Joe's success as a performer lies in the fact that, like the late W. C. Fields, he has created a kind of personal cult. His fans never tire of tales of his prowess with the bottle or his uncanny ability to bet large sums of money on horses that never come in first.

A symbol of his first hobby stands on the coffee table in his hotel suite here. It is a "boozie bysh," a plant whose green branches are tastefully decorated with 25 small bottles of liquor.

Actually, although Joe likes to say his favorite foods are scotch, steak and cole slaw, his drinking feats are exaggerated. Asked what was his favorite hangover remedy, he said seriously:

"Some people drink to forget. I drink to remember. After a couple of drinks I do remember better."

Lewis was born on the Lower East Side, just around the corner from the neighborhood that produced Irving Berlin, Eddie Cantor and Al Smith.

"I've done an awful lot for Irving Berlin," he said. "In all my years in show business I never sang one of his songs. If I ever write a song, I hope he'll do the same for me. He can't sing either."

Some people go to night clubs as an escape. But to Joe, a man at peace with himself, a night club is a home.

"I'm happy and feel contented in them. With me it's not a matter of being lonely or carrying a torch."

Joe, who said he doesn't believe in living by rules, because "there are no rules," has a simple suggestion for keeping in shape:

"Run up and down a racetrack until you don't have a superfluous ounce of cash on you."

Doesn't he ever secretly envy the ordinary man who works day-long hours and goes home at night to a wife and three kids in a happy home in the suburbs? A look of horror spread over Joe's face.

"I'm a gambler—not a lunatic," he replied.

Here are the three basic tenets of Joe E. Lewis' philosophy for happiness:

"Never spend more than three seconds every day on regret."

"You're only young once, but if you work it right, once is enough."

"When things look black, send them to the laundry."

Two years ago Joe underwent an operation for the removal of most of his stomach, and now, every morning when he wakes up, his first grateful thought is:

"Gee, I made it again."

When Lansing became Michigan's capital in 1847 it was a frontier clearing with one log house and a sawmill. Legislators chose it, half jokingly, after rejecting more populated townships.

Guarding Your Health

By DR. EDWIN P. JORDAN

Shingles or Herpes Zoster

It is a little difficult to say whether shingles or herpes zoster should be classified as a disease of the nerves or a virus. Be that as it may, this strange disorder is caused by a virus and does involve the nerves. Or perhaps one should say the nerves of feeling or sensation.

In a review of herpes zoster published in a leading medical journal 206 cases were analyzed. Among the 32 patients under the age of 20 with shingles the condition cleared up in 30 in 14 days or less. In four elderly patients the symptoms lasted six months or longer.

The first sign of the disease is usually a pain or burning sensation which is confined to some part of the body and to one side only. Why it should be one-sided is still not known.

It is particularly common around the chest, the hips, the abdomen and the face. It is particularly serious when the eyes become involved.

In the review just mentioned involvement of the eye did not occur in patients under the age of 20. It appeared to become more common in more or less direct relationship to age.

Herpes may come on immediately after an acute infection like pneumonia or meningitis. Sometimes it develops without obvious cause and sometimes comes in epidemics.

One of the curious features of shingles is its relationship to chicken pox. The virus particles of chicken pox and herpes zoster cannot be told apart by their physical appearance. Furthermore, there have been many reports of chicken pox occurring in people who come in contact with victims of shingles. Occasionally the opposite has been observed.

Many different kinds of treatment have been used for shingles. Soothing lotions or other preparations help a little. X-rays have been used with variable success. Antibiotics also may have some value. Anything which improves the general health is considered valuable. However, so far there is no single specific remedy.

In elderly people or those weakened by illness, herpes is often a particularly serious thing because it hangs on so long. The persistent pain is called postherpetic neuralgia.

When nothing else seems to work, cutting the nerve by surgery or other procedures on the nerves may have to be considered. Older people with nerve pain following shingles deserve the utmost sympathy. A study suggests progress in preventing postherpetic neuralgia may be made by more strenuous efforts to reduce the severity of acute attacks.

Shoulder, Arms!

The Rifle Drill squad of Allen Reynolds Post, Veterans of Foreign Wars, is cutting a niche of its own among Salem's marching organizations.

The drill squad, organized only last spring by a group of patriotic war veterans, won three awards in competitive events this summer. Their snappy, precision marching has attracted the plaudits of many onlookers and local people will have another opportunity to see them during the Halloween Night parade Oct. 31.

Because the veterans take their work seriously we know that many more awards will come their way. They're off to an auspicious start.

Still Unifying

Ten years ago today James E. Forrestal was sworn in as the first Secretary of Defense. "This office," he wrote, "will probably be the greatest cemetery for dead cats in history."

Charles E. Wilson, retiring Secretary of Defense who has fought as valiantly as anyone for unification of the services, probably would agree with his predecessor.

For example, the unified Department was intended, among other things, to promote economy with efficiency. Yet a House subcommittee in Europe today investigating reports of millions of dollars of waste in overseas military spending and the Senate Investigations Committee recently revealed the dumping of millions of dollars in material at Arctic bases because of a massive supply foul-up.

In 1945 Gen. Dwight Eisenhower told West Point cadets that all forces "must work as a unit" and that "if I had my way they would all be in the same uniform."

Yet inter-service rivalries have frequently broken into the headlines, two notable instances being the Air Force - Navy squabble over the B-36 in 1949-50 and the Army - Air Force guided missile fight highlighted a few months ago by the court martial of Col. John G. Nickerson.

Even its most ardent supporters realized in 1947 that full-scale unification would be a difficult thing to accomplish. The mere size of the nation's military establishment is a formidable barrier to efficiency and economy. The jealous pride of the individual services grows out of traditions long fostered as valuable builders of loyalty and morale. Like segregation in the South, the undesirable effects of such pride cannot be wiped out overnight by legislation.

Probably the most important gain of the past 10 years is that military unification now is an accepted fact. That it still has rough edges is no discredit to those who have labored - and those who continue to labor - to smooth them out.

Painless Inflation

The report that the cost of medical care has taken a bigger jump than any other item on the Bureau of Labor's consumer price index is no real surprise to most of us. Except for those rare individuals who have never been sick a day in their lives, everybody has had the experience of shelling out for medicines, doctor visits, hospital stays.

The blame for the soaring costs of treatment can be placed squarely on the shoulders of medical science. Were it not for the endless labors of its researchers, we would not have to pay for expensive new drugs, for the use of complex new machines, for the higher operating expenses of modern hospitals, for the services of more and better-trained doctors, nurses and technicians.

But neither would we live so long - or enjoy as good health while we live. It perhaps has never been figured out, but there is undoubtedly a direct relationship between the rising cost of medical care, the increasing life span and the widening percentage of the population that by and large is blessed with sound health.

That is why you hear a lot more grumbling about the soaring costs of everything else than you do about more expensive medical care, even though the other boosts are smaller. The returns on the investment in health are too precious to permit complaints.

Idea Men

People who are fond of taking potshots at the whole body of civil servants should take heed of the flowering, on all levels of government, of employee suggestions for improving service and efficiency and saving money.

In the federal government, for instance, almost 300,000 ideas were submitted in 1956, a one-third gain over 1955, two-thirds over 1954. The 80,000 of these that were put to use sliced more than 100 million dollars from government expenses.

It is true that bonuses offered for sound suggestions provide an incentive to employees. But the six million dollars that was paid for those 80,000 ideas is a small investment for a 100-million-dollar return.

More significant is the fact that a man disinterested in his job seldom, if ever, comes up with an idea for improving it. The worker who is able to submit a valuable suggestion is obviously devoted to more than his paycheck.

Confusing Legalisms

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Test Case Needed To Resolve Arkansas Problem

How many persons who have been reading lately about the legal troubles in Arkansas know that, without a test case in the courts, there is actually no way of finding out what the Constitution means? How many know that every citizen has an inherent right to dispute a court ruling and that this does not necessarily mean "defiance" but an orderly attempt to establish what the "law of the land" really is?

Yet, judging from the harsh criticisms hurled at the governor of Arkansas, there is a popular belief that the federal government exercises some sort of dictatorship and that anyone who challenges its action in the normal course is guilty of "insurrection."

No ruling as to what is or is not constitutional has ever been rendered by the Supreme Court of the United States at any time except when the workings of a particular statute of Congress or of a state law have been disputed in a court proceeding.

There is no such thing as an advisory opinion in advance by the Supreme Court of the United States.

SOMEBODY in the first instance has had to disregard the application of the statute or the decision of a lower court so as to bring about the issuance of an injunction decree and the making of a case that the highest court could receive for decision.

Whenever the Supreme Court refuses to review a case, the lower court ruling stands.

Again and again the Supreme Court has ruled that neither a governor nor the commander of state troops can be arrested nor interfered with by a court order when discharging normal duties and when there is no criminal charge of a personal nature involved. The Supreme Court of the United States once said:

"All persons in the public service are exempt, as a matter of public policy, from arrest upon civil process while thus engaged."

So the Arkansas case today raises some novel questions and the only way to resolve them is by court proceedings.

The governor has promptly complied with the lower court's decree and has filed an appeal to a higher federal court.

THE ATTORNEYS for Gov. Faubus were well within their rights in refusing to remain in the court room last Friday after they had forthrightly stated the issue.

They declared, as attorneys for the governor, that Gov. Faubus and his military officers "cannot and will not concede that the United States government in this court or anywhere else can question his (the governor's) judgment and discretion acting as chief executive officer of the sovereign state of Arkansas in the performance of his duties or question his acts under the constitution and laws of the state."

Unfortunately for the American people this very case may never be decided either way by the highest court.

It is the habit of the Supreme Court to avoid making any rulings on constitutional questions whenever it can refrain from doing so.

The probabilities are that the highest court will dismiss the appeal as "moot" because the withdrawal of the National Guard will have removed the issue from the actual to the academic.

SOME OTHER case involving a suit against the federal government by a citizen for damages incurred might possibly force a decision on the constitutional question.

It is too bad that the American people may never know - and that the governors of all states may never learn from this episode - just where a state's obligation to preserve order and prevent bloodshed within its borders begins and ends.

Certainly one passage in the ruling by Judge Davies in Federal Court last Friday in Little Rock will stand for many years as a classic example of the absurdity of legalisms. He wrote:

"It is equally demonstrable from the testimony here today that there would have been no violence in carrying out the plan of integration and that there has been no violence."

Plainly there was no violence. But is this proof that there would have been none without the presence of the troops? Why, it may be asked, did the mayor of Little Rock - after the state troops were withdrawn on Friday - order the city police, armed with riot guns and tear gas, to surround the school on the following Monday?

HOW CAN any judge fathom the minds of the youths inside the school or of the tens of thousands of citizens - in an area where race friction has been engendered - and say flatly it is "demonstrable" that "there would have been no violence?"

It may be that the infectious spirit of sociological research which the Supreme Court of the United States lately has been exhibiting in its decisions in reaching down now to the lower court judges in the federal system.

Maybe federal judges who hitherto have been concerned only with the "intent of the law" now will feel themselves to be expert psychiatrists - able to define and determine beforehand "the intent of the human mind" in a strife-torn community.

New York Herald Tribune

Outlook For 1958 Tax Cuts

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP) - Chances of tax cuts are being talked up again today even though Congress sidetracked the issue until next year and the federal budget is in delicate balance.

Business has a stake in any cuts - individual income, corporate income, excise taxes - and it has a stake in how the tax cuts are made.

Two of industry's pressing problems today (sales outlook and tight money) could help bring the cuts about. No one belittles the political fact that 1958 is an election year, but some of the hard facts of economic life may help too.

So business agencies are stepping up their drives to influence popular and congressional opinion now that congressmen are at home testing the voters' opinions.

The drives have a wide range. There's the National Assn. of Manufacturers' ambitious effort to induce Congress to adopt a five year plan of gradual reductions of income taxes, individual and corporate, to a top bracket of 5 per cent.

And today there's an analysis by the Tax Foundation of the flaws in the currently popular ways of apologizing for high taxes by comparing them to the gross national product, national income, or personal income.

This non-profit research organization notes that the total of federal, state and local taxes came to a record high of 105 1/2 billion dollars last year. This was 25.5 per cent of the gross national product - the dollar value of all goods and services - which was 414 1/2 billion.

The foundation argues that it is unrealistic to use the gross national product because that includes capital consumption allowances (mainly depreciation charges). Deduct these and you get a net national product of 380 1/2 billion dollars and the tax take is 27.3 per cent of that.

Still another way of measuring the tax burden is to reduce it to a percentage of population and to note that the population is increasing as fast as taxes.

Congressional debate over tax cutting is likely to center on where to cut: high personal income brackets or low? Business has a stake in each.

If the cut is in the lower brackets, business figures that will give consumers more money to spend at a time when many industries are worrying about their sales volume and the static or lower consumer demand.

If the cut is in the higher brackets, industry figures there will be big savings that can be tapped for investments, thus easing the tight money bind. Perhaps this could increase production and thus help halt inflation.

West Germany now has her first U-boat submarine for its new armed fleet. Its a holdover from World War II when it was scuttled. It has been raised and refitted.

Good News for Us All

World's Most Popular Dish... Stew

By THOMAS HOLDEN

Worldwide sampling of the most carefully laden dining tables has produced the dish that is man's favorite. Drown it in wine, blanket it with herbs, mix it with pine nuts—it's still stew.

The discoverer of this culinary intelligence, the U.S. Committee for the U.N., has made its point in the latest version of a global cookbook, called "The World's Favorite Recipes." Out of 76 countries presenting national dishes, a plump majority of 39 featured stew in various forms.

The stews range from President Eisenhower's personal recipe for a beef confection to the intriguing Belgian blueprint for simmering beef and ham chunks in a pot of spice-laden beer.

Lamb and pine nut stews are contributed from the Arab world. Stews take on aspects of veal, sour cream and paprika in the Balkans and turn to spiced chicken with red peppers in Latin America.

RECIPES in the book, which offers 170 dishes billed as authentic samples of the cooking of nearly all the U.N.'s member states, range from traditional English steak and kidney pie to such exotic offerings as Iranian yogurt and cucumber soup.

Hot curries come from the rice-growing areas of the Far East. Meat and bean dishes sharpened by tongue-tingling herbs are offered by the Caribbean area.

Based on an idea first hatched in 1951 when a smaller trial edition was brought out, the book is designed to give a glimpse of folkways of other nations unblurred by political issues. Sponsored by Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt and other prominent church and club women, the book was compiled with the help of foreign embassies and legations in the United States.

The State Department helped translate recipes from many foreign tongues, for language difficulties were a real problem. So were foreign methods of measurement such as "proper amount of flour" or "enough rice."

Some ingredients aroused considerable anxiety among the editors.

The more gruesome components were deleted or substitutions were found.

ONE SEAFOOD recipe received in English from a far eastern country contained a cryptic little passage advising housewives to go to the local fish store and "choose the small gray jobs." The editors are still trying to figure that one out.

It was found necessary to call in home economic experts to arrange the recipes in usable form bearing in mind the fact that some of the ingredients are not available in the United States.

Yemen, for instance, casually tells the reader to add one cup of fengreek, an oriental seed, to a beef casserole. A New Yorker might be able to find fengreek in Chinatown but it's doubtful a housewife in the Ozark Mountains could do the same.

In many cases, the editors inserted footnotes suggesting available alternatives for the less attainable seasonings. Where a Nicaraguan recipe for tripe calls for adding a couple of quarts of such tropical vegetables as chayote, plantain and malanga, the book tells you to substitute potatoes and squash.

BY THE SAME token, cranberry jam is substituted for Swedish lingonberries and swiss cheese fish for the goat's milk variety.

Classifications in the book are sometimes baffling. Foreign cooks have the disconcerting habit of lumping all borderline dishes under the general heading of "soup."

The Great Depression

By ROBERT H. MARRIOTT

(Editor's Note: Some of T.T.'s readers have written vacation columns for him this year. Today's essayist is an advertising executive.)

Pinch-hitting for Truman Twell is an old story - it was my first assignment as a fledgling reporter 28 years ago.

"How about reviewing a movie?" was Truman's greeting, as he handed me a couple of passes. Thus, I became a part-time film critic. The double feature included one talkie and one silent, the latter featuring Alice White - the Marilyn Monroe of the '20s.

Depression-clouded, those days, but not uneventful. Bank stickups were almost daily events. Half the staff went to the scene when they cornered Pretty Boy Floyd in a field near East Liverpool.

Don't let historians tell you we "sat out" the depression. As an era of top-flight entertainment, it was fabulous in our town. We saw such stars as Fanny Brice, Phil Baker, Everett (Old Man River) Marshall, Rudy Valle, Duke Ellington, Amos 'n' Andy, Buddy Rogers, Eleanor Powell, and Red Craig.

Name bands of the day included Isham Jones, Ted Lewis, Jan Garber, Jack Denny, Ben Bernie and Wayne King. If you danced to this music - you're gettin' old, man!

Stage extravaganzas included White Scandals and Carroll's Vanities and, of course, Sally Rand. Sally was guest speaker the night our Jaycee's got their charter and they never had a more articulate one - before or since.

There were dance marathons - "walkathons" - and incredibly they drew huge crowds. There were long stretches of box office slumps, too, but theater managers kept their sense of humor. Lowe's Manager Adolph Buehrig, asked

Thus Ecuador offers a "corn soup" which consists in part of one pound of chopped beef, a half pound of sliced sirloin, eight ears of corn and a handful of hard-boiled eggs.

Hardly less confusing is inland's recipe for "cold fruit soup," made of dried fruits, sugar and whipped cream that would pass as a dessert in any American cookbook.

A separate section of the book is devoted to an assortment of pastries. They range from Mrs. Harry S. Truman's recipe for pound cake to an elaborate Polish bakka replete with 14 egg yolks. None of the Far Eastern countries came up with the fried ants, stewed worms or barbecued bees that have gained fame in travel books. But there were some weird offerings by U.S. standards.

IT WOULD TAE a pretty jaded palate to cope with Brazil's avocado-flavored ice cream, or Thailand's recipe for "golden silk" that calls for oozing 12 raw egg yolks into a cup of boiling, sugared water until you have a wavering thread of gold.

Indonesia offers a gado gado salad that starts prosaically enough with shredded cabbage, cucumber and radishes. The recipe then soars out of this world with a complex dressing of some two dozen ingredients including potato chips, peanut butter and soy sauce.

Simplest recipe in the book is a terse offering from Honduras called dulce de leche. Ingredients: One quart of milk, one pound of sugar, one cinnamon stick.

Once Over

By R. L. PHILLIPS

Irene Dunne and U.N.

Irene Dunne, famous movie star, is a member of the new delegation of the United States to the United Nations. This can do the U.N. no harm. It can use a little glamour. Any organization whose job is to win world support is behind the eight ball when it can be said of it that never has a single member been pursued for autographs.

MISS DUNNE has glamour and it is seasoned high-test glamour, good over a distance. She also has dignity and charm. And anybody who has been in movies as long as she has must have developed plenty of patience, fortitude and resourcefulness in stirring hassles.

Myrna Loy, another Hollywood star, figured in a Security Council debate recently and it helped the free world. The trend may mean that U.N. has at last come to a full realization that it is no bargain from a standpoint of beauty, and will extend the Hollywood touch.

The public appeal would be stronger. Who would care what country had the veto if the free world had Ava Gardner or Audrey Hepburn?

This corner believes sincerely that Kim Novak might get farther as secretary general than Dag Hammarskjold. Even Red Hungary would let her in.

INDEED THE UNITED NATIONS, stumbling, ineffective, frustrated and inadequate, seems to be crying out for something of the Hollywood atmosphere and could use directors, writers and choreographers.

It needs mystery angles, big dramatic punch scenes . . . the whine of limousine tires marking the timely arrival of Henry Cabot Lodge in a tough situation . . . a Soviet speech delayed and subsequent discovery of the speaker bound and gagged in a closet . . . the beautiful Miss Liberty, set upon by villains, crying for help from a nearby Indian delegate and getting an abstinence!!!

NEVER IN THE LONG performance by U.N. has it been smart enough to introduce a bathtub or Roman fountain interlude. Not once has it shown a woman in a tub or a man under a shower, despite the fact that Hollywood has never failed to cash in on their value in audience approval and support.

Appreciation of good figures, fine clothes, lavish furnishings and incidental music has been lacking always.

It is to be hoped Irene Dunne is only the beginning of a new era at U.N. One of these days the movie influence may have taken over to a point where an Iron Curtain speaker will stop a moment in his two-hour harangue and use the old show business line "But why am I telling you all this?"

UNCLE SAM SPENDS millions on the Voice of America to get important news over to nations all around the earth but, incredible as it may seem, America itself fails to see that its own people at home get anything but meagre coverage of all important events, such as, for example, the major doings by the United Nations . . . Not a single TV station and only one radio station properly covered the recent hearings on the Hungarian issue, a dramatic and important session of interest to all Americans . . . Most U.N. sessions get a similar brush-off . . . How about a "Voice of America" for Americans?

Charlie Chaplin's new film "A King in New York," opening abroad, continues to get severe criticism over there . . . "Just not funny and a clear case of getting even with America," is the general verdict . . . Getting even for making his fame and fortune here, as it were . . .

The U.S. government spends $216,667 every minute, a report says . . . And the altitude seems to be that if he can't spend it faster than that he ain't trying.

Judging from those new Paris styles for women's costumes, the stylists are determined to have milady "in the bag."

Inside Labor By Victor Riesel

On the cluttered desks of the Criminal Division of the U.S. Department of Justice there seems to be piling up evidence that Jimmy Hoffa's mind was not as uncluttered as he would have had his TV audience believe.

The word is that the Criminal Division now more is preparing to put the elusive Teamster leader in prison, this time on charges of having perjured himself before the McClellan committee.

Part of the evidence that Jimmy Hoffa's meandering memory improved rapidly after he left the Senate hearing room can be found in the AFL-CIO's 64-page indictment of the Teamsters Brotherhood.

THIS REPORT reveals that weeks after Hoffa left the Senate hot seat, he walked into the Ethical Practices Committee's court of inquiry in labor's own headquarters and talked with the ease of a street - corner pitchman about the incidents he couldn't remember when queried by Sen. John McClellan and Senate counsel, Bob Kennedy.

Apparently Hoffa did not do as well among his peers as he did at his Harvard lecture or the state dinner tendered him in the past by those who sought his largesse.

The bantam with the mickle muscle was thus described in the 64-page report the AFL-CIO chiefs wrote:

"There was evidence that Hoffa had associated with, supported, sponsored or hired various toughs and hoodlums. Indeed, the list of many of Hoffa's proteges and friends reads like a rogues' gallery. The arrest records of these people cover everything from highway robbery to murder."

Not since the first dues stamp was glued to a union book has an official labor group spoken this strongly of an all-powerful labor chief.

AFTER LISTENING carefully to Hoffa's explanations of the incidents he couldn't recollect on the Senate witness stand, they wrote:

"If Vice President Hoffa believes his statement, we again can attribute it only to his insensitivity to the most elementary principles of trade union morality."

Their words were etched in acid because their resentment cut deep when they were baldly asked to accept the Hoffa cartel as nothing more than a charitable endeavor for the workers of Jim Hoffa's world.

They were appalled, though they had before them Dave Beck's record. At least Beck had tried to cover up. He was crude but he tried after he learned that the Treasury agents were poking into his Ponzi-like pockets.

That was some time in 1954, Beck's union books disclosed that somebody had borrowed $7,422.89. Beck, having almost 40 times that amount, simply had his handyman write the figures 25 in front of the loans receivable on the union books up to $257,422.89. He tried

HOFFA DIDN'T, though it may well be shown that he did use a couple of hundred thousand dollars worth of union dues for his own indulgences in our laissez-faire glittering world of profits about which he screamed so much when negotiating with the other "class."

Hoffa had as much confidence as he had other men's cash. After all, he had defeated many other probes.

As early as 1946, Hoffa had laughed at a one-man grand jury probe of his activities in Detroit. He sneered at the Kefauver committee which had a good look at him years later.

He just waved away some tough charges hurled at him by the Wint Smith - Clare Hoffman congressional probe in 1953.

And when the McClellan committee moved into the high wind, he told the boys around him: "Don't worry, we can handle this one. Didn't we get all the others called off?"

All this time Hoffa continued heavily in business. One venture particularly nettled those who wrote the 64 - page report. You'll soon hear more about it — the great Sun Valley land scheme in Florida.

Nothing was more disdainfully swashbuckling. First Hoffa borrowed $25,000 from a real estate promoter.

THEN HE WENT to a bank and guaranteed, through his power as a Teamster leader, a note of $75,000 for the promoter. This man then gave Hoffa an option to share in the profits of the Florida Sun Valley subdivision.

Then Hoffa and his union pushed the sale of lots to Teamsters.

This promotion included the dispatching of a three - man Teamster business agents' committee to Florida so they could return and talk like old - fashioned sunshine boys. But the fact that they were really pitching for one of Hoffa's projects was a secret.

All this Hoffa recalled and tried to explain away to the AFL-CIO committee. But the Justice Department soon will ask how come Hoffa could remember so much he said he had forgotten.

U.S. Soldier Testifies Girard Fired Cartridge Case For Joke

SOMAGAHARA, Japan (AP) — A U.S. soldier testified today that William S. Girard just for a joke fired an empty cartridge case that killed a Japanese woman after the two enticed her within range.

Victor Nickel, testifying at an outdoor session of Girard's Japanese manslaughter trial, said he tossed more than 10 brass cartridge cases from a machine gun

Woman Shoots Her Husband Four Times

CLEVELAND (AP) — Into Sam's Bar Monday afternoon walked Mrs. Anita Feola, 28, with her 3-year-old DaVey. She asked to see her estranged husband Richard, 24, son of the bar owner.

"Kiss your son," she told Feola and repeated the instruction when he asked: "Why?"

When he bent over to kiss the boy, Feola was shot four times—twice in the neck, and in the leg and shoulder. He is in fair condition in St. John's Hospital.

An hour later at her home, Mrs. Feola shot herself in the hip. She was treated at a hospital then taken to jail.

From the woman, the wounded man and others, detectives Monday night pieced together this background for the shooting:

Mrs. Feola filed a claim for a $1,000 reward posted by United Auto Workers Local 515 for the man who fatally beat Raymond G. Weihrich, 36, the local's vice president, in 1954. Feola now admits the slaying, which she said was accidental and followed an argument over a traffic accident.

Upbraided by her husband for tipping police to the solution of the slaying, Mrs. Feola went to a store near her home in Middleburgh Heights and bought the target pistol with which she shot him.

United States Code. Its provisions say in part:

"Whenever the President considers that unlawful obstructions, combinations, or assemblages, or rebellion against the authority of the United States, make it impracticable to enforce the laws of the United States in any state or territory by the ordinary course of judicial proceedings, he may call into federal service such of the militia of any state, and use such of the armed forces as he considers necessary to enforce those laws and to suppress the rebellion."

That statute appears to give the President full authority to federalize the Arkansas National Guard, use militia troops from other states, or call on the U.S. Army.

Hagerty emphasized that Eisenhower's signing of the proclamation does not necessarily mean federal troops will be called out. After a telephone conference with Atty. Gen. Brownell, Eisenhower issued a statement saying: "I want to make several things clear in connection with the disgraceful occurrences of today at Central High School in the city of Little Rock. They are:

"1. The federal law and orders of a United States district court implementing that law cannot be flouted with impunity by any individual or any mob of extremists."

"2. I will use the full power of the United States—including whatever force may be necessary—to prevent any obstruction of the law and to carry out the orders of the federal court."

"Of course, every right-thinking citizen will hope that the American sense of justice and fair play will prevail in this case. It will be a sad day for this country—both at home and abroad—if schoolchildren can safely attend their classes only under the protection of armed guards."

"4. I repeat my expressed conviction that the citizens of Little Rock and of Arkansas will respect the law and will not countenance violations of law and order by extremists."

Deaths, Funerals

Mrs. Howard Herrington

Funeral services were held at Claremont, Calif., Monday afternoon for Mrs. Lela Herrington, 66, formerly of Salem, who died Saturday in a hospital in Los Angeles. She had been ill six weeks.

Burial was in Forest Lawn Cemetery, Los Angeles.

A sister of Mrs. Edna Diehl of Columbiana, Mrs. Herrington was the wife of Howard Herrington who at one time was superintendent of the Salem China Co. He couple resided on the Damascus Rd. here until seven years ago when they moved to Claremont, Calif.

Previously they resided in East Palestine. Mrs. Herrington was a member of the Eastern Star, Amaranth and Methodist Church in East Palestine.

Besides Mrs. Diehl, she is survived by one brother, L. T. McArthur of Youngstown.

Whitmore Funeral

NEW SPRINGFIELD — Funeral services for Herman Whitmore, 53, of New Springfield, who died Monday at 6:40 a.m. in Salem City Hospital, will be held Thursday at 2 p.m. at the Fry Funeral Home in Columbiana.

Burial will be in New Springfield Cemetery.

Friends may call at the funeral home Wednesday evening from 7 to 9.

Born in New Springfield Sept. 8, 1904, he was a son of David and Dorothy Heindel.

A mechanic, he had been employed by the Heindel Oldsmobile Co. of Youngstown the past 30 years. He was a member of the Emmanuel Lutheran Church of New Springfield.

He is survived by two uncles, Orville and Emmanuel Heindel of Youngstown.

Howard R. Martin

LISBON — Howard R. Martin, 56, died at Roseburg, Ore., Monday after being in ill health for several weeks. He has been a resident of Roseburg for last ten years where he practiced physiotherapy.

Born Feb. 2, 1899, in Lisbon, he was a son of James and Sarah Jane Evans Martin. He was a member of the Methodist Church and the Masons.

Surviving is one brother, James, of Glen Ferris, W. Va.

The body will be returned to Lisbon for burial.

Passions

tended Central High School for a few hours were spirited out of the building for their own protection.

Who can say where lies the blame for the ugliness of the scene?

Was it with the raging segregationists? Or were they justified in their consciences for pitting force against law in a desperate effort to save a way of life?

Was it with the Supreme Court, which ordered integration? With the "Yankee" judge from North Dakota who ordered it started in Little Rock without further delay?

With President Eisenhower? Should he have taken a stronger stand before the violence developed?

With the Little Rock authorities, who gave assurance they could cope with any disorders?

With the Negroes? Did they press too hard, too fast?

With public sentiment in Little Rock, and in much of the South?

Was Arkansas Gov. Orval Faubus right after all when he called out the National Guard three weeks ago to stop integration and, as he said, to head off violence?

Or did his action only apply the spark to a powder keg?

You can search long and far for a villain in this tragedy, right back to the first slave trader who brought the first Negroes to America.

But the search would waste time that could better be spent in looking for a hero — someone who can point a way out of this mess.

President Eisenhower, vacationing there, pledged Monday that "the full power of the United States—including whatever force may be necessary"—will be used to enforce the law in Little Rock.

He followed that up with a formal proclamation commanding "all persons engaged in such obstruction of justice to cease and desist therefrom and to disperse forthwith."

That cleared the way under the law for him to call out either the National Guard or federal troops to enforce the law and suppress rebellion. It did not necessarily mean the troops will be called out.

And Eisenhower did not say what other steps he might have in mind.

He did say, as he has said before, that he is confident the people of Arkansas "will respect the law and will not countenance violations of law and order by extremists."

The people of Little Rock can't erase the hatred and bitterness already portrayed. Perhaps they can prevent another eruption of mob violence. If they can't, it's up to Faubus and Eisenhower in that order.

Teamsters Reportedly Face Ultimatum From AFL-CIO

NEW YORK (AP) — The Teamsters Union today reportedly faced an ultimatum from the AFL-CIO high command to clean up within a month or be suspended from the merged labor federation.

The fate of the nation's biggest union and the future of James R. Hoffa in the merged labor movement rested with the 29-member AFL-CIO Executive Council, meeting in extraordinary session.

The council was expected to receive late today or Wednesday a recommendation by the eight-member AFL-CIO Executive Committee for action against the scandal-tainted Teamsters Union.

Members of the Executive Committee were reported to have agreed unanimously Monday night on the fixing of a 30-day deadline for corrective action by the 1,480,000-member union. However no public announcement of the committee's decision was made.

The council was expected to issue the formal cleanup mandate to the Teamsters.

Hoffa, powerful vice president of the Teamsters now battling for the presidency, is a principal target of the AFL-CIO Ethical Practices Committee, which has charged corruption in the Teamsters' top echelons.

Members of the AFL-CIO Executive committee indicated again Monday night that promotion of Hoffa from vice president to president at the Teamsters' convention in Miami Beach next week would lead to ouster of the union.

Action on the Teamster Union may be pushed off until Wednesday by the Executive Council's against two other unions.

Housecleaning ultimatums were expected to be delivered to both. They are the United Textile Workers of America, with more than 40,000 members, and the Bakery and Confectionery Workers International Union, with more than 138,000 members. The UAW is separate from the Textile Workers Union of America, a larger union which was a CIO affiliate before the labor merger in 1955.

Hoffa, who was in New York Monday for a one-day break in his pre-convention activities in Miami Beach, continued to ignore the pending AFL-CIO action against his union.

He again expressed confidence that he will be elected president of the Teamsters as successor to the retiring Dave Beck — who, like Hoffa, is a prime target of the Senate Rackets Committee and the AFL-CIO Ethical Practices Committee.

Police said blows were struck in the main street gang fight but apparently no one was hurt seriously. The incident occurred at a drive-in cafe—a hangout for white teen-agers.

Reports that a 50-car cavalcade was forming in downtown Little Rock were described by officers as just a bunch of kids. They broke it up.

Between 8 and 10 Negroes were arrested. Police said. They reported no arrests of white men.

Negroes, armed with all types of weapons, including pistols and razor blades, are attacking whites, throwing rocks, breaking car windshields, and throwing bottles into doors of houses, an officer said.

Newsmen who drove by car through Negro districts found them uniformly dark and silent. Where a house was lighted, the lights were switched off at the approach of the car.

Nasser Offers Arms To Tunisia

Spokesman Won't Say What Type Weapons

CAIRO (AP) — President Nasser has offered arms to Tunisia and that pro-Western North African nation announced today it is accepting.

The announcement of acceptance was confirmed by the government in Tunis.

In Tunis, a spokesman said a mission would leave shortly for Cairo to fix conditions for delivery of the weapons. He did not say what kind of weapons were involved.

The Tunisian spokesman said Nasser's offer was made a week ago after President Habib Bourguiba in a speech appealed to "brother countries" to help Tunisia. Tunisia has been having its troubles with the French in adjoining Algeria and there have been border clashes.

The spokesman said Tunisia's acceptance "does not change in any way the attitude of Tunisia with regard to the Western bloc."

He added it also would have no effect on Tunisia's attitude toward an imminent U. S. reply to Tunisia's request for arms. It has been reported the U. S. government is sympathetic to the Tunisian request but wants to go slow to avoid offending the French.

Egypt has received large shipments of Communist bloc arms in the past two years and now has surplus of obsolete British, French and U. S. military equipment.

Rev. Lowe Takes Over Pastorate Of Two Churches

Rev. Emory G. Lowe Jr. has assumed the pastorates of the Ellsworth and Concord Presbyterian churches, having preached his initial sermon Sunday morning.

A graduate of Wooster College in 1951 with a bachelor of arts degree, Rev. Lowe was graduated from the McCormick Theological Seminary in Chicago in 1954. Since then he has served the Bainbridge and Bourneville churches in the Columbus Presbyterian.

A native of Wilmington, Del., he served two years in the armed forces in the Pacific and in Germany.

Rev. Lowe is married to the former Jane Matthews of Media, Pa. Mrs. Lowe, also a Wooster College graduate, was with the Board of National Missions of Presbyterian Church at Tucson, Ariz. for two years. The couple have two children, Shodie, 3, and Barbara, aged 18 months.

Group Seeks School Transfer For Children

LISBON — Herman Swope, Leetonia RD 2, Monday presented a petition to the County Board of Education containing 22 signatures from residents living in two square miles of territory west of Columbiana, just south of Columbiana-Mahoning line, who request that their children be permitted to go to Fairfield Schools which they now attend.

The district is reported to have 23 qualified voters in the territory. This is the second petition received by the County Board of Education. West district residents handed in their petition at the county board's meeting last Tuesday night. They requested transfer to Minerva schools where their high school students now attend by paying tuition.

Braves Capture NL Flag, Beat Cardinals In 11th 4-2

Aaron's Homer Deciding Blow

Yanks Win AL Crown As A's Beat Chisox

By The Associated Press
Milwaukee's long badgered Braves finally did it!

And they did it big, these "choke up" Braves, snatching a 4-2 victory in the 11th inning Monday night from second-place St. Louis, the one club they had to beat. Hank Aaron's two-run, two-out homer was the blow that wrapped up the National League pennant and set up a World Series date with the New York Yankees.

Almost overlooked was the fact that the Braves, who slumped and lagged after gaining a whopping 8½-game lead on Labor Day, built a seven-game winning streak under pressure to nail their first pennant since 1948.

At the clinching, they had a six-game bulge with five to play.

The Yankees made it while most of the Bombers were taking a busman's holiday at Yankee Stadium—watching the middleweight championship fight while the Kansas City Athletics eliminated Chicago's White Sox 6-5.

That defeat left the White Sox 6½ games behind with six to play.

It was Aaron who set the pace for the Braves' comeback from a worrisome, 11-game batting slump in which their lead over the Cards was whittled to 2½. Aaron batted only .220 (9 for 41) in that mess, but started a nine-game streak that included a .500 spurt (14 for 28) in the Braves' seven straight victories.

The homer was Henry's 43rd, regaining the major league lead from Ernie Banks of the Chicago Cubs. It followed a single by Johnny Logan sandwiched between a pair of fli's by Red Schoendienst and Eddie Mathews off relief loser Billy Muffett.

A single by Schoendienst, the ex-Card, and a double by Mathews gave the Braves a 2-all tie in the seventh against Larry Jackson, the Cards' second pitcher. Jackson, who relieved starter Wilmer Mizell with the bases loaded, none out and a run home in the second and got out of the jam, had been staked to a 2-1 lead in the sixth as Al Dark tagged Lew Burdette for a two-run single.

Burdette was lifted in the 10th for a pinch hitter, Gene Conley took over for a hitless 11th, winning his ninth in 18 decisions.

Oddly, it was St. Louis that threw a block to Milwaukee's 1956 pennant bid, beating the Braves on the next to last day of the race.

While the Braves were gaining their first pennant since shifting from Boston to Milwaukee in 1953, the Yankees were winning their eighth in nine years under Manager Casey Stengel.

A pair of ex-Yankees did it for the A's. Bob Cerv got the tie-breaking run home with a sacrifice fly in the eighth after Minnie Mingo, who homered for Chicago's first run, brought the White Sox even with a two-run single in the seventh. Woody Held, another ex-Yank, Alex Kellner and Gus Zernial also homered for the A's.

Jim McDonald was the loser in relief, with Arnie Portocarrero the winner, also in relief.

In the other AL games, Boston whipped Washington 9-4 and Cleveland tripped Detroit 5-4 in 11 innings. Ted Williams was 1-for-1 for the Red Sox, upping his AL leading average to .385 and padding his string of trips to the plate without being retired to 16. He walked three times, was hit by a pitch on his last trip.

Cardinal Stan Musial was 3-for-4 pushing his NL-leading bat mark to .349.

A single by rookie Dick Brown, his third hit, won it for the Tribe. Brown also homered, along with Roger Maris and Rocky Colavito. No other games were scheduled.

Basilio Cops Middleweight Crown On Split Decision; Robinson May Quit Fighting

NEW YORK (AP)—Indestructible Carmen Basilio reigned as middleweight champion of the world today while dejected, dethroned Sugar Ray Robinson pondered whether to end his fabulous ring career for good.

The ever-pressing ex-Marine from Chittenango, N. Y., moved up from the welterweight throne Monday night by gaining a split decision in 15 bloody and thrilling rounds over the 37-year-old Sugar Ray at Yankee Stadium.

Robinson, who won the 160-pound title four times, has a contract for a return bout within 90 days. He indicated that he might hang up the gloves for the second time in his 17-year career, but the betting was that he would be back next June for another helping of the $50,000 pie he collected Monday night.

"I don't know whether I'll evering of the $50,000 pie he collected fight again," he said in his dressing room. "There are things about boxing I don't like. There is too much intrigue. I had to battle for everything I got in this fight. I'll decide in a few days whether I'll fight Basilio again."

About the split verdict, which saw the two judges voting for Basilio and the referee for Robinson, Sugar Ray said, "I have no squawks."

Basilio, 30, who was cut over the left eye in the fourth round and bled from the nose, said jubilantly, "I won it without question. I forced the fight and got in the most punches."

It was a see-saw fight which could have gone either way. Judge Artie Aidala had it 9-5-1 in rounds for Basilio. Judge Bill Recht made it 9-6-1 for Basilio while Referee Al Berl cast the dissenting vote for Robinson, 9-6. The AP scorecard had it even, 6-6-3.

Robinson, snapping his jab with precision and force, reddened Carmen's face, drew blood from his nose, and kept his lighter foe off during the early rounds.

Basilio, weighing the heaviest of his career at 153½ pounds to Robinson's 160, came on to break through Robinson's defenses to sweep the 8th, 9th, 10th and 11th rounds. He staggered the big man in the 10th and 11th rounds, clobbering him with a 12-punch volley in the 11th.

That seemed to be it for Robinson. His legs appeared ready to fold under him. But in the 12th, with blood trickling from his nose, he found a hidden reservoir of strength.

He took command again with his stalling left jabs in the 12th and in the 13th he staggered his blood-smeared rival with a left hook to the jaw seconds before the bell.

In the 14th, Ray doubled Carmen over with a stunning right hand to the pit of the stomach; but again Basilio, never stopped in his career, refused to fold.

His cheeks swollen, blood dripping from the cut over his left eye and his nose, Carmen drove doggedly on in the 15th to win that crucial final round with his aggressive tactics and body banging.

The ring-scarred gamester thus duplicated Robinson's hitherto unprecedented feat of winning the middleweight title while holding the welterweight crown. He'll have to give up the lighter title, just as Robinson was forced to do. Carmen was the 6-5 favorite.

NBA Commissioner Abe Greene said Tony DeMarco of Boston, Ike Logart of Cuba, Vince Martinez of Paterson, N. J., and either Virgil Atkins of St. Louis or Gil Turner of Philadelphia will fight an elimination tourney for the vacant title.

Basilio will have at least $27,700 to console him for yielding the 147-pound crown. Robinson will collect about $50,000 for losing the middleweight title again.

Basilio On Way To Fat Checks As New Champ

NEW YORK (AP)—The roads crossed today for 30-year-old Carmen Basilio and 37-year-old Sugar Ray Robinson.

Basilio, a rough, tough, bar-room brawler, was on his way to a series of fat paychecks as middleweight champion of the world. Robinson, always the thespian, dramatically announced he didn't know if he'd ever fight again.

In his dressing room, Basilio, his cheeks swollen and his eyes cut, first complained that Robinson hit him low knowingly. Then he said: "He hit me low, but it didn't matter in the end so why make an issue of it. Let's just say he did it unintentionally."

Basilio's soft voice and carefully chosen words belied his chopped-up appearance. He seemed hurt that he won the title on a split decision.

"I thought I had him all the way. I did everything you've got to do to win. I forced the fight. I got in the most punches."

The veteran warrior from Chittenango, N. Y., seemed particularly proud of the fact that he outsmarted Robinson.

"When he grabbed the rope in the sixth, I knew he was trying to suck me in," explained Basilio with a trace of pride. "But I wouldn't go for it. I think I outsmarted him all the way. He got in some good shots, but I never was on queer street (senseless)."

Robinson agreed with Basilio that he tried to outsmart Carmen "but apparently it didn't do any good."

"He never really hurt me, though," Sugar Ray continued. "I always knew what I was doing. He hit me a couple of real good licks but I never thought he had me in bad shape."

Robinson's Share Of Fight $496,075

NEW YORK (AP)—Middleweight champion Sugar Ray Robinson earned more than $500,000 in losing his title to Carmen Basilio Monday night. Not counting the movie returns, Robinson reaped about $496,075 from the gate, the after-televised and radio. Basilio collected about $212,700.

Tribe Defeats Tigers In 11th

Final Home Game Of Season Draws 3,021

CLEVELAND (AP)—A crowd of 3,021 saw the Cleveland Indians beat the Detroit Tigers 5-4 in 11 innings Monday night in the final home game of the season.

It brought the total home attendance to 722,256—lowest since 1945, when it was 335,182.

With the end of World War II, the annual attendance rose over a million for 10 seasons from 1946 to 1955, reaching the record of 2,620,627 in the championship year of 1948. The pennant-winning team of 1954 drew 1,335,472 at home.

Last year attendance fell to 965,467 and this year's total was 143,211 under that.

Club officials have repeatedly denied rumors that the plunging attendance figures would cause them to move the club to another city.

Monday night's victory put Cleveland a half game behind the idle fifth-place Baltimore Orioles, and 2½ games behind fourth-place Detroit.

Idle today, the Indians open a two-game series in Kansas City Wednesday, and end the season with three in Chicago.

Rookie catcher Dick Brown hit a single, a double and a home run in Monday night's game. His single in the 11th brought home Billy Harrell, another rookie, with the winning run. Roger Maris and Rocky Colavito also homered for the Indians. Cal McLish went the route, holding the Tigers to nine hits and one earned run.

Detroit starter Jim Bunning failed in his second try for his 20th victory. He was lifted for a hitter in the 10th inning and the loss went to Joe Presko.

HITTING

Hank Aaron, Braves—was 3-for-4, clinched the pennant with a two-out, two-run homer in the 11th that defeated the second place Cardinals 4-2 and regained the major league home run lead at 43.

PITCHING

Lew Burdette, Gene Conley, Braves—Burdette kept the Cardinals in check on nine hits, giving up two runs in the sixth, and Conley worked a hitless 11th in 4-2, pitching clinching victory.

FOR THE RECORD—Mrs. William Conyers claims a world record with this 15-pound, 12-ounce blackfin tuna taken from the Challenger Banks, 17 miles southwest of Hamilton, Bermuda. It took 20 minutes to bring the big one to gaff after landing it on a 12-pound test line. Clever catch.

Michigan State fullback Don Gilbert played the most football of any returning back for the 1956 Spartans. He was in action 250 minutes.

Camille Henry of the New York Rangers, at 135 pounds is the lightest player in the National Hockey League. He is a 24-year-old wingman.

Brave Fans Erupt As Team Wins Pennant

MILWAUKEE (AP)—The home of the Braves became the land of whoopee Monday night.

For the National League baseball club of Milwaukee Inc. won itself a pennant.

Out on Wisconsin Avenue, the cork popped. Just to show you how Milwaukeeans were carried away, the entire population of one main stem bar ran shrieking into the street, stopped in horror when the cold air restored their judgment, and rushed back in again.

In the meanwhile, a man selling pennants labeled "Milwaukee Braves—National League champions" had materialized on the sidewalk.

Suddenly there were people, hundreds of people, and hundreds of cars, six lanes of them, with horns blaring. A girl with close cropped red curls, a green sweater and tight pants turned gracefully cartwheels across the intersection of 5th and Wisconsin.

This was in the first hour or so. The 40,000 faithful making the trek from County Stadium were just arriving with first-hand tales of the heroes.

At 12:30 a.m., the multitudes spilled out over the street and the police gave up. They blocked Wisconsin Avenue from between 3rd and 6th streets.

The cheering picked up a professional note suddenly, with the arrival of some stalwart supporters of nearby Marquette University.

Sneakers wound past the fashionable shops of the downtown area. A night club band left its night club and headed a parade. Celebrants were climbing electric light poles.

By 2 a.m., the crowd began to split up and spread. Pressure eased up in the downtown area as the bars closed. A worn lieutenant of police wiped his face, despite the chill breeze.

If the faithful act like this for the winning of a pennant, some suggest, what would they do for the winning of the Series?

Facts on Sports

Mississippi quarterback Ray-mond Brown led the Southeastern Conference in passing in 1956. He completed 40 passes for 653 yards. Favorites won 33 per cent of the races during the Monmouth Park thoroughbred meeting. Of the 416 races, 138 favorites finished first.

Michigan State fullback Don Gilbert played the most football of any returning back for the 1956 Spartans. He was in action 250 minutes.

Camille Henry of the New York Rangers, at 135 pounds is the lightest player in the National Hockey League. He is a 24-year-old wingman.

Salem To Meet Canton Friday

Timken Unbeaten, Rated 53rd In State

Canton Timken's Trojans, unbeaten in two starts, move into Reilly Stadium Friday night to meet Salem's once beaten Quakers.

The Trojans, rated 53rd in the state this week in the first Associated Press poll, iced Akron North 26-12 in their opener. In the mud last Friday night, they edged Cleveland West 7-6.

In their victory over Cleveland, the Trojan's rolled up an impressive statistical edge and reached within striking distance of a score on several occasions only to fumble or lose the ball on downs.

The Quakers, who seemingly bogged down after an impressive 40-6 victory over Youngstown Chaney in their opener, were nipped 13-7 in the tilt against Ravenna.

Coach Earle Bruce has his ball club working hard on pass defense this week. The Canton team had men in the open time and time again against Cleveland but a slippery ball and wet field caused the Trojan quarterback to either over-shoot or under-shoot his target. His accuracy could have given the Timken squad an easier win.

Catch-All Needed to Hold 'Collections' of Children

Children have a notorious tendency to collect things.

Popular treasures are games, toys and, of course, dolls for girls and holsters and guns for boys. Then there also are bottle caps, broken pencils, string, rolls of foil, a stray ribbon, etc.

These have to be some place. To keep a bedroom or playroom neat as possible, a handy catch-all is needed.

One suggestion is to use one or more Kimball fiberglass planters as toy chests or catch-alls. These are lightweight, washable and virtually unbreakable. They also afford much storage space.

To fit a room's color scheme are such nonfading shades as Cerulean blue, sand, red, avocado green.

It's also a good idea to cover a child's room floor with an easy-to-clean, durable material such as linoleum. In this way, he will feel free to "ramp and roll" on the floor without dire consequences. Walls, too, should be papered or painted with washable material.

K. of C. Will Honor Past Grand Knights

Additional Precinct Clerks Are Sought

The County Election Board said today it has asked the Republican and Democratic central committee members to recommend persons for appointment as additional precinct clerks at the Nov. 5 general election.

A total of 282 additional workers — two in each of the county's 141 precincts — will be needed because of the large number of ballots to be voted, Frank O'Hanlon, clerk, said.

Each party will recommend 141 workers, O'Hanlon said. The recommendations must be submitted as soon as possible so the appointees can attend schools of instruction Oct. 14-15-16 in Salem, Lisbon and East Liverpool, he continued.

In all precincts except those in East Liverpool and Liverpool township, the additional help will start work when the polls open at 6 a.m. and remain on duty until the vote tabulation is completed.

The extra workers in East Liverpool and Liverpool Township will report when the polls close at 6 p.m. and remain until the ballots are counted, the clerk said.

The East Liverpool area will vote on the fewest number of ballots, but some precincts will have as many as 14 ballots to be counted, O'Hanlon said.

TO BUILD HEADQUARTERS NEW YORK (AP) — A 30-story eight million dollar building, to serve as headquarters for the Kroger grocery organization, will be built in Cincinnati, the company announced Monday. A spokesman said construction will begin before the end of the year.

The name of ragweed, which caused so much discomfort to hay fever sufferers, is ironically derived from the Greek ambrosia, meaning food for the gods.

Photography Company Files $5 Million Suit

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—De Ville Photography, Inc. of Columbus Monday filed a five million dollar libel suit against the Columbus Citizen, its editor and a reporter.

The suit, which was filed in Franklin County Common Pleas Court, charged "the defendants caused to be written, published, and circulated in the Central Ohio area certain false and libelous statements with intent to damage and destroy the plaintiff's reputation and business."

It added that the newspaper charged in stories that the studio's business was a "high pressure photographic scheme" and a "racket."

The suit named the E. W. Scripps Co., Scripps-Howard news-papers, Citizen editor Don E. Weaver and reporter "Rip" Manning.

This is the EDSEL

"It puts shifting where it belongs"

Edsel Teletouch Drive lets you shift without lifting a hand from the wheel

You can drive the Edsel—park it—reverse it—rock it—while both hands stay at the wheel. For Edsel's exclusive Teletouch Drive puts the shift controls right where they belong: in the center of the steering wheel.

And all shifting, even into park position, is effortless, because the Edsel actually shifts itself. The Teletouch Drive button you touch signals a rugged, precision "brain," and it does the work—smoothly, surely, electrically.

You'll find the entire Edsel is as original and advanced as Teletouch. The Edsel's elegant lines, its vertical grille and low, wide flight deck promise you that. And the big Edsel V-8's—newest in the world—prove it beyond a doubt.

See your Edsel Dealer for a road-test. Edsel prices range from just above the lowest to just below the highest. You can afford an Edsel. And you can choose from four series, 18 models.
